About ASOIB

Effectivity

This ASOIB is effective with immediate effect.

Reason

The following Aerospace Services Operations Information Bulletin (ASOIB) outlines the release of the Media Conversion Tool (MCT), a web solution that helps customers to convert their Software into other media types.

Summary

Honeywell Aerospace has identified the need for an online Media Conversion Tool (MCT) in order to be compatible with upgraded avionics. Legacy data loading devices require older media types (floppy diskettes) to upload new software or databases. This type of media is now obsolete and can be unreliable. New data loaders have the provision to use more up to date media types (USB, CD/DVD) that are more readily available and reliable. To keep pace with user requests, Honeywell developed MCT allowing users to convert software distributed on older media types to new types reliably. Conversely, Honeywell can now distribute software and data on new types of media allowing the users to choose the media types they need using the MCT.

High level process to access MCT:

- Log in to the Honeywell Aerospace Portal
- Click on ASDS
- Click on Media Conversion Tool icon.
- Read the terms of using the tool and click on Proceed.
- Select the conversion type that is desired for execution.
- Download the software or data to MCT
- MCT copies in the same format to a new media type
